Chapter One

I've always been a pretty average guy. Average grades. Average looks. I definitely had an average insurance job. Yep, I am smack in the middle of an average life. But there was one thing that set me apart. My advice column, well, technically, it's a blog. For years, I had been the go-to guy for all things relationships and dating. People, mostly women, loved my honest and straightforward advice—even though I've never been that lucky with dating myself. But I do know guys well. The blog started as a thing as I did on the side. But then, gradually, my following grew and grew until I was actually making money at it. Good money. Everything was going great until...

Chapter Two

"Alex. Alex. Alex," my agent Donald, mumbled as he paced up and down his office, which was kind of tiny. Since I had developed a decent enough following, I took on a few sponsors. That got the eye of a decent social influencer agency. And that's how I got to this point—sitting here nervous about what Donald was going to say next. "AI."

Okay, I didn't expect that.

"What about it?" I asked while playing with this weird puzzle executive toy on his desk, but I stopped as he gave me a stern look.

"With those new content chatbots on the scene, anyone with a laptop can offer advice instantly."

"Yeah, but it's a bot."

"That's smarter, faster, and more efficient than you could ever be, Alex. No offense."

"Is that why my readership is declining so rapidly?"

"Most likely, Alex, but I might have an idea," Donald said as he reached under his desk, grabbed a big bottle of booze, and poured some into his paper cup without offering me any. "It's a bit radical, but it could save your blog."

I leaned forward, eager to hear his proposal. "What is it?" Anything is worth a shot at this point.

"You."

"Me?"

"You started your blog when?"

"Six years ago...no, seven, maybe eight."

"That's almost a decade, Alex."

"And your point is?"

"With all this AI stuff, people are thirsting for realness. Videos. Photos. Selfies."

"Of me? No way. Look at me. I'm overweight. I'm not attractive. And I'm a dude. No woman or guy will think I'm good enough to give them advice."

Donald just looked at me, polished off his drink, stood up, and walked over to where I was sitting. He then looked me in the eye, which made me uncomfortable.

"What if I told you we could change all that, Alex?"

Chapter Three

Donald explained his plan to me, which sounded like the ramblings of a madman. The procedure involves the use of nano-technology that would physically transform me into a hot woman for 24 hours. He also assured me it would be safe and painless.

"And as a woman, I would what?" I asked as I stared at the bottle, which looked kinda good right now.

"We would capture tons of videos and photos. Then you turn back, and we use the content."

"What happens when it runs out?"

"We'd go to the dark side and use some magic AI tool to create more. Look, Alex, you're a talented writer, but in today's market, you need to be more than a voice. I know. I know. It's a tough proposition to consider, but think of all the... "

"I'll do it."

"Oh, wow. That's it? No fighting?"

"Nope. At this point, I need all the help I can get. So when do we start?"

Chapter Four

"Hey, Brad." I was surprised my roommate actually picked up the phone. He was pretty much in a depressed social coma after his girlfriend, Stacy, dumped him.

"Hey, can you bring home a pizza? I'm right in the middle of this zombie battle with Jeff. It'd really cheer me up."

"Dude, you've been playing that game non-stop since the, um, break up. Why don't you go out and..."

"Alex, time's a wastin'," Donald called out while pouring another drink as a man in a white lab entered the room with a big medical bag.

"Alex? Are you still there?"

"Yeah, I was actually calling to tell you that I might have to go to a...wait. Hold on, Brad...who is that?"

"That's the doctor."

"We're doing this here, Donald?!"

"Sure. We did it to Chris Telos here."

"Chris did it?"

"And Bri. And Sam."

"But they're all like superstar hot female influencers."

"That were once sad, pathetic dudes, Alex. And now you'll be one of them," Donald said as he motioned to the guy in the lab coat, who then sat right next to me.

"Dude, are you there?"

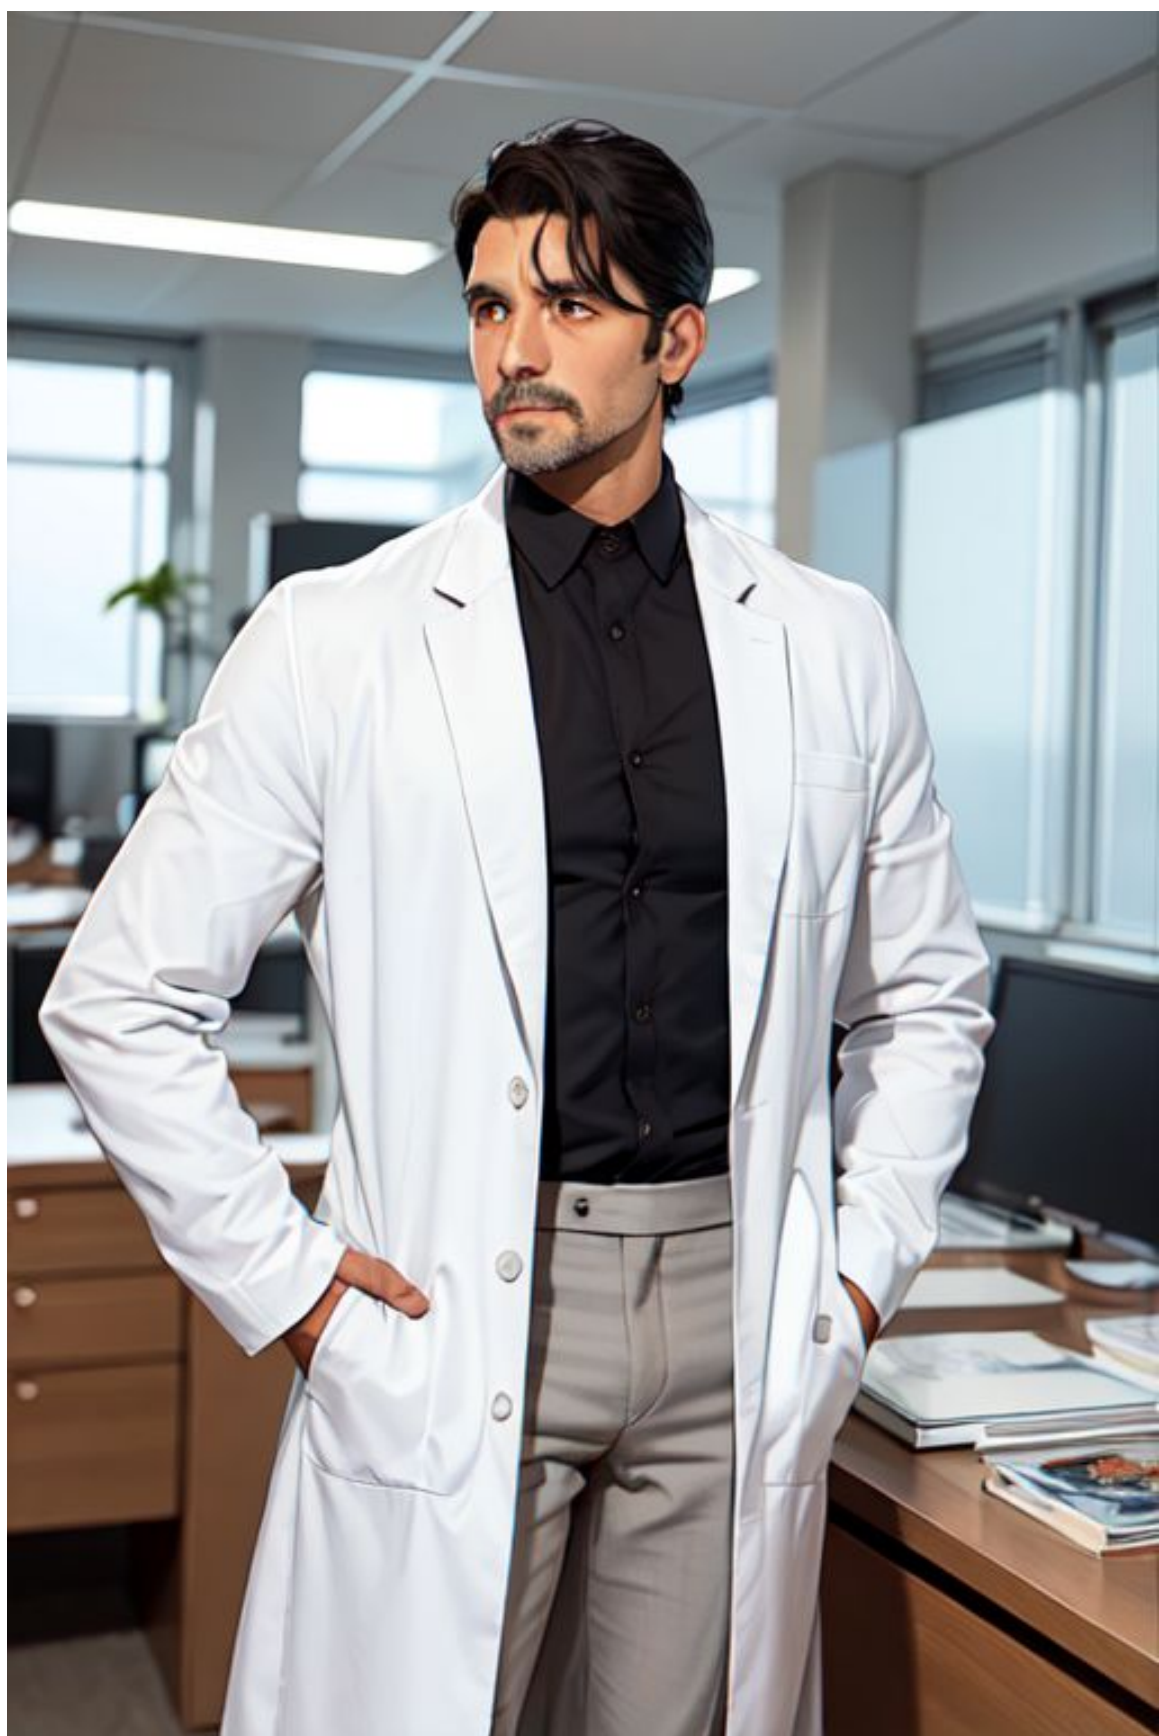

"Yeah, Brad."

"Cool. Can you get me a pizza with..."

"I can't get you pizza."

"Oh c'mon, can't you at least pick me up a... [CLICK]

Chapter Five

"How are you holding up there, champ?" Donald asked while he poured another big cup of alcohol as the silent doc guy strapped me to my chair. "You good?"

"Well, now that you mention it, I am a bit curious as to why I'm being tied to a chair."

"Curiosity is good. You can save that creative energy for the blog."

"So how does this..." I froze as I watched the silent Doctor pull out... "A big needle?!"

"You'll barely feel it. Right Doctor Olzi?" Donald asked the man in the lab coat, who still didn't say a word. Yeah, this isn't going to work for me.

"Look, Doc, Donald seems to be all excited about this...."

"Nanite transformation."

"What Donald said, except less slurry. Is there a pill or maybe a video I could watch first to see if...AHHHH!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter Six

I watched as this silvery substance slowly got pushed from the syringe into my body. I started to feel it coursing through my veins. I had no control over my body. I was shaking so hard I thought I was going to...huh? Suddenly everything just stopped. I was just sitting there staring at the two...

"We're done," the Doctor finally spoke as he undid the straps on my arms and legs.

"Hey, Olzi? What's going on? I paid good money for this to work," Donald said as he kept looking at me like I was some sort of...

"It will work. Just not now."

"Okay. When? I want to start recording footage right away. I have the media peeps ready with the digital promos—we just need the, um, talent."

"It will work when it works." I watched as the Doctor gave Donald a scowl as he packed up his bag of needles.

"Look, I don't have to remind you that..."

"I make house calls and do something no one else can do. So I'd choose the next few words you're about to spit out of that tiny mouth very carefully."

"I don't have a tiny mouth. Do I?" Donald asked as he looked at me and then the Doctor.

"Look, it's not that I don't like your work, Doctor. It's just that we need to..."

"Good day, Donald." Before any of us could answer, he went to the door and...SLAM.

Chapter Seven

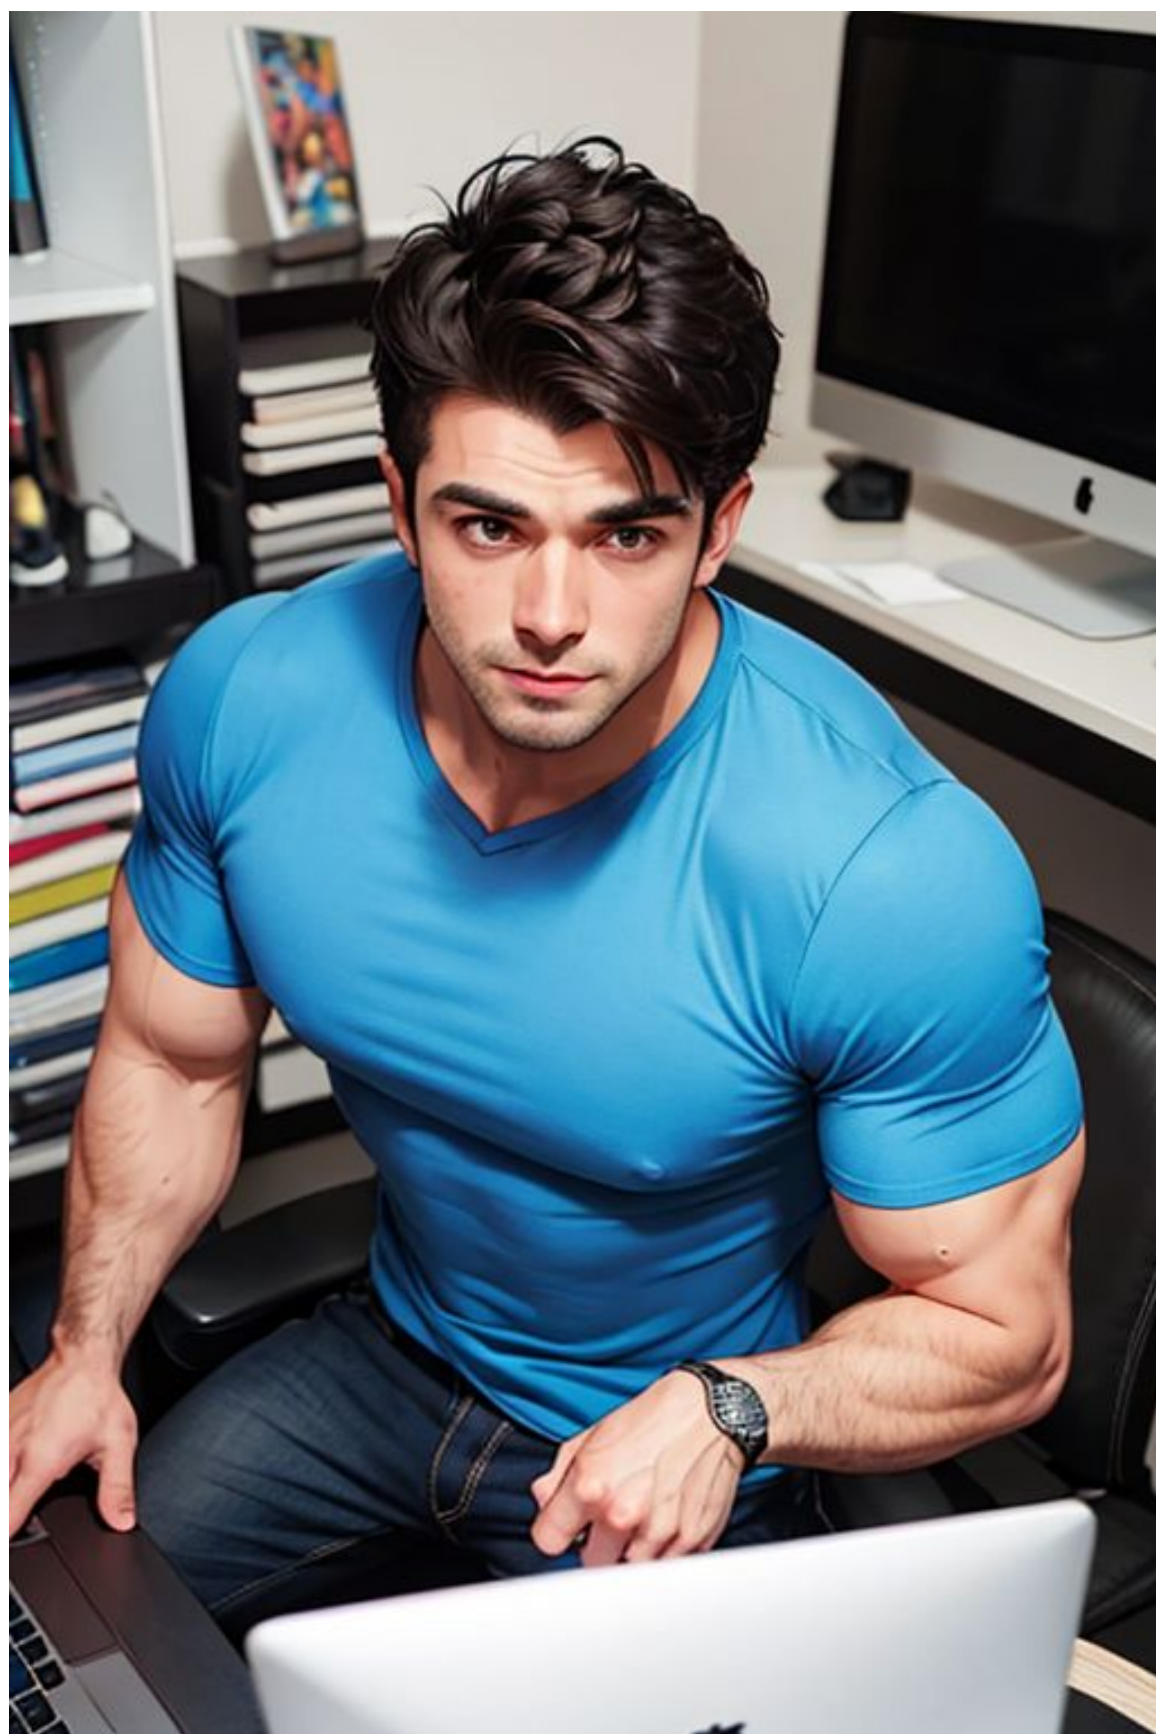

"So instead of getting me pizza, that's what you did?" Brad asked as he barely turned around from his zombie game.

"I did? No, that's what they did," I grumbled as I started scrolling through my phone. "I'm going to make Donald pay. I just need to find that lawyer's number and...are you even listening to me?"

I looked at Brad, who was still glued to his computer screen. He had the same depressed, sad look he's had since...

"Dude, can you not stand over my shoulder? I get all...whoa!" Brad was frozen as he looked right at me, just like Donald did. I looked at the mirror in the living room. What the hell is...

"NOOOO!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter Eight

I couldn't believe my eyes as I stood in front of the mirror. Staring back at me was, I guess, me...only it wasn't. I was transforming right before my eyes. My short, messy brown hair morphed into long, flowing locks that cascaded down my now curvaceous...butt? No way. My boxers started riding up, revealing these silky smooth tan thighs. This is...

"Boobs!"

"What are you..." Again I was stunned as I stared at my once flat chest that was growing big time. When is it going to...stop?" I just stood there stunned, staring at a pair of perfectly round, ample breasts that were impossible to ignore. Not only had my body changed, but my face had changed as well. The features that had once defined me as Alex were now softer, more feminine. My eyes, once a dull shade of brown, had become vibrant and seductive that I'm sure would captivate anyone who dared to meet my gaze.

It was all too surreal, too unbelievable. I had always been a man, and now, thanks to some nanite technology concoction, I was a woman. And not just any woman, but a hot one with a body that would make men swoon and women envious. I couldn't help but feel a mix of excitement and anxiety at the possibilities that lay ahead. This is...

"Whoa! You're, um, junk is gone!"

"Brad stop staring at my...holy, where did it go?" I pulled down my boxers to reveal a void that was now between my legs or not between, as the case may be. This is...

"You're...you're a..." He was at a loss for words. I couldn't blame him. My roommate Brad was the unfortunate soul who had witnessed my transformation. His eyes widened in shock as I stood there, a living testament to the wonders of science. "Alex, You're a..."

"Woman! Yes!" I nodded as my newly thick and glossy hair fell over my shoulder. "But I'm still me, Brad. Just... a different version."

He took a moment to compose himself as he took another swig of his beer, and finally left his zombie game. "Why did this happen?"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter Nine

I further explained to him that my successful advice blog was losing viewers and clicks. And how psycho Donald, who was desperate to keep the money flowing, had taken drastic measures on me. They had administered a dosage of nanites that would change me into a hot woman for 24 hours.

"I just want to crawl into bed and never..."

"Alex. you're hot."

"I guess," I said in a coy voice staring at the hot busty woman that stood before me. I was beyond hot. I'd never get a chance with this woman, and now she's... "Hey, what do you think you're doing?"

"I wanted to feel your breasts."

"Look, I get you're depressed about losing Stacy, but feeling up your best friend, that's kinda weird. Right?" I mumbled and crossed my arms, which felt odd pressing against my mounds of...

"Fine. Then let's go out!"

"No."

"But you said the clock is ticking. No?"

"True...but I don't even know what I'd...hey!" I snapped at Brad, who was going through the bag Donald gave me. I gasped in horror as he pulled out a tight black dress that seemed impossibly tiny.

"Yes."

"No, Brad."

"Yes. Alex, you wear this out, and I'll capture all the footage on my phone. I swear you'll quad-triple your readership."

"That's not a real number," I said as I couldn't help but smile. Brad really is cute when he is trying to...ugh! Is he flirting with me? NO! Get it out of your...

"So? What do ya say? Want to become a hottie for the night?"

He thinks I'm hot? Stop! You shouldn't care what he thinks. Ugh! This is way too much for me to handle.

Chapter Ten

"How's it going?" Brad asked from outside the bathroom. I saw it open a crack, and...SLAM! "Hey, what did you do that for?"

"Cause you're being a perv."

"No, I'm being a concerned friend."

"Whatever," I mumbled as I stared at my bare breasts. They looked beyond perfect, like my taut tummy and this very feminine.... "Ooooh."

As soon as I touched down just below my tiny waist, a rush of tingles shot through me. Slowly my finger started to probe and...mmmm. The tingles were building. I gripped the counter as my breathing became heavy. I couldn't hold in the moans as my finger dipped in and out of me. It was intoxicating. My thighs clenched as I went faster and faster until...whoa! I did my best but couldn't hold back the moan as I held the counter with both hands. Wow! So that's what it feels like to be a woman. That is...

"Are you sure you don't need any help with the dress?"

"Shut up, Brad!" I snapped as I picked up the silk panties and stepped into the frilly garment. It felt so smooth against my firm body. I looked at the bra and decided against it. No way would I figure that out, and besides, my breasts seemed all perky on their own. I took the dress and again stepped into the skintight outfit. As I pulled it up, I was amazed at how it hugged my curves—especially my big fleshy mounds. This is insane. I'm truly model hot. "Oh, Brad, I'm ready."

Chapter Eleven

“You like?” I twirled in front of him to show off my shapely...
“Dude, I’m showing off my body, and all you can do is stare at your phone?”

“Sorry, look.” Brad handed me the phone, and I stared at a pic his friend sent him of his ex-girlfriend kissing a guy at a bar that we go to all the time. Wow. Low blow.

“Wait, is that...”

“Weren’t you just playing the zombie game with him?”

“Yeah, but he was on the phone doing this,” Brad said as he looked like he was about to cry. I felt so bad I wanted to do something for the big guy. I mean, he might be a perv, but he’s still a cool guy and cute. NO! That’s the woman in you talking. But it wasn’t going away, and an idea popped into my head that I knew I was going to regret.

“Brad, maybe we can help each other.”

Chapter Twelve

We arrived at the bar, and it didn't take long for Brad to spot Stacy with Jeff. Brad's gaze was fixated on her, who was laughing and flirting with his former best friend at the other end of the room. I could tell Brad was hurt by their recent breakup, and he couldn't stand seeing Stacy with someone else—especially his fellow zombie hunter buddy.

"Alex, so you'll really help me?" Brad sighed with his eyes still on Stacy. "I want her to be jealous and realize what she's lost."

"And I want my viewers to see how I can help someone get over a relationship. So let's do this, Brad."

As we walked toward Stacy and Jeff, I couldn't help but feel a little nervous. The plan seemed ludicrous, but I couldn't deny the thrill that ran through my body. I took a deep breath, and my huge boobs practically strained the flimsy fabric. Stacy's eyes widened with surprise as she noticed Brad holding hands with me. Right away, she left Jeff at the bar and came over to us and...

"Brad, who's this?" Stacy asked in her angered voice. Really? She's the one who dumped Brad and is prancing around with Jeff. How could she be so... "Well?"

Brad gave Stacy a polite smile and brought me closer to him. "Stacy, meet um..."

"I'm Alexis. Brad's girlfriend. We've been seeing each other for a while now, and we're very hot and heavy," I purred as I shot Jeff a flirty stare who couldn't take his eyes off of...

"Jeff! Seriously?!" Stacy snapped.

"What?" Jeff stammered as he looked away from me and walked off to his friends.

Chapter Thirteen

Stacy then focused back on us. I continued to play my part, wrapping my arm around Brad's waist and flashing Stacy a confident smile. Her eyes darted between Brad and me. "You never mentioned anything about a girlfriend."

Brad leaned in, his voice dripping with satisfaction. "Well, maybe because it wasn't about you. It was about me moving on," Brad said as he took my hand, which made me feel butterflies in my tummy. "And I have to say, Stacy, I'm pretty happy with my decision."

As my heart raced, I felt a surge of unexpected desire. This illusion, this transformation, seemed to have an effect on me that went beyond the plan. Brad's words resonated with me. As I glanced at him, I realized how happy he really was at this moment. Not because Stacy was jealous but because he was with me. At least that's what I think is going on in his head.

Unable to contain my emotions any longer, I took Brad's face in my hands, pulling him towards me. We moved to the dance floor, and our lips collided at that moment. I forgot everything else. The bar faded away, and all that mattered was our electric connection. The passion consumed us, and we became lost in each other's touch.

After a night of dancing, we found ourselves back at our place. Again our bodies were entwined. The night had been a whirlwind of desire and discovery. As we lay there catching our breath in bed, I felt so happy in his arms. This is so...

Chapter Fourteen

“Oh no!” I gasped as I woke up and stared at my clock. It was so late.

“NO!”

“What the...Alex? What’s wrong?”

“I need to go! I’m sorry to just...”

“I get it,” Brad said, and...wow, is he actually sad? “Go. I’ll be fine. Hey, you helped me get over Stacy. Thanks for that.”

I smiled as I ran to pick up my phone and saw a bunch of messages from Donald. I quickly dialed and...

“Donald?”

“Alex? The change worked?”

“Yeah, I’m so sorry I woke up late. I’ll be right over so we can...”

“Take your time.”

“What do you mean? You said I had only 24 hours to...”

“Yeah, about that, um, how do I put this?”

“Put it in English. What, Donald?”

“Well, you know how I was storing the vials of the nanites for Doctor Olzi?”

“No.”

“Well, I was, and I, um accidentally gave him the wrong dosage to give you.”

“So what does that mean, Donald?”

OceanofPDF.com

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter Fifteen

“Alex? You’re still here? I thought you...mmmm.” Brad stopped talking the moment I kissed his yummy lips. “What are you...”

“Three months.”

“Huh?”

“Donald was so drunk he gave Doctor Olzi the wrong dosage.”

“Wow, so you are...I mean, you’re going to stay a woman right now. I am so sorry for...oooooh,” Brad moaned as I rubbed him down below.

“Are you really sad, Brad?”

“No.”

“Me neither. Wanna go back to bed?” I cooed as I kissed Brad again. He just scooped me up in his arms and took me into the room.

I guess I owe you one, Donald.
